

Saturday MASTI

Book to read

The book to read this week would be from an Indian writer Ashwin Sanghi. The book is called 'The Krishna Key' and it explains the incidents which occur in the life of a person, who believes he is the ninth Avataar of Lord Vishnu and ends up killing people in the name of religion. The story is interesting, and it might be called an Indian equivalent to Dan Brown's Da Vinci Code. For people who like science fiction with a desi touch to it, here's just the right book. Price Rs 126.

Click to Check

www.zomato.com. This is a very popular site among people who look out for hangout places in and around the city. The website is very easy to navigate through and finding out places is not rocket science any more. Another feature that makes this site worth visiting is that it has reviews which are real. You have queries, complains and everything about eateries, pubs, etc from customers which are answered by the owners. Also, the rate and menu cards are on display.

Gadget to go for Fujifilm's JZ100 8x Zoom Camera is a new long-zoom camera for holiday lovers. The camera features an 8x zoom capability and takes vibrant images of distant objects. With this camera you can shoot 720p HD movies and it also lets you upload your pictures and videos on Facebook and YouTube. FinePix JZ100 is available in six rich colours - black, silver, pink, blue, red and purple. It is moderately priced at Rs 8,499.

App Ki Kasam

UC browser is this week's app to go for. The App is meant for people who download a lot of stuff on the phone and regularly face slow speed or crashing down of the default browser. This app is fast and most of all, it has turned the android browser up-side-down by throwing the Opera Mini browser out of the market.

Hyderabad Hangout

Shilparamam is a fun place to hang out for youngsters who are looking for a long evening in a cost effective avenue. The best part about the place is the way it is built and the way it works. The entry is of just Rs 40, and in store is a long and peaceful evening. The boating and the puppet show are its highlights, while the food tastes delicious. Clothes and accessories come at a reasonable price.

(Compiled by Bhavneet Singh)